Paragraph Town is at the same level as Grammar Town, Caesar's English I, and Building Poems. These four books enable teachers to implement a full language arts curriculum strongly grounded in the fundamentals.

The protagonists who teach the concepts to be learned are two engaging ducks who explore the importance of organizing sentences into orderly paragraphs; some of the different kinds of paragraphs--dialogue, description, expository, comparison; punctuation as well as grammar.

Paragraph Town gives children an entertaining and comprehensive introduction to the paragraph. An additional feature that makes this book a special treat for students (and their teachers) is the audio. Students can hear the voice of Michael Clay Thompson as he speaks directly to the readers. This digital edition is a learning medium with a direct connection to an author of genius.
